Publication Design

This spread consists of two pages. The left page (page 14) contains a large block of Latin text. The right page (page 15) features a woman in a black blazer and skirt, standing in an office setting. The top right corner of the right page has a teal box containing the text 'Attire Tips'. The bottom right corner of the right page has a teal box containing the text 'Keep it Simple'. The central column contains three columns of text: 'The New Black' (with a subtext about black being a neutral color), 'Don't Over-Accessorize' (with a subtext about avoiding over-the-top accessories), and 'Keep it Simple' (with a subtext about a simple outfit consisting of a dress shirt and slacks).

The New Black
You can't go wrong with wearing black to an interview. It's a neutral color that goes with almost any pair of shoes or accessories.

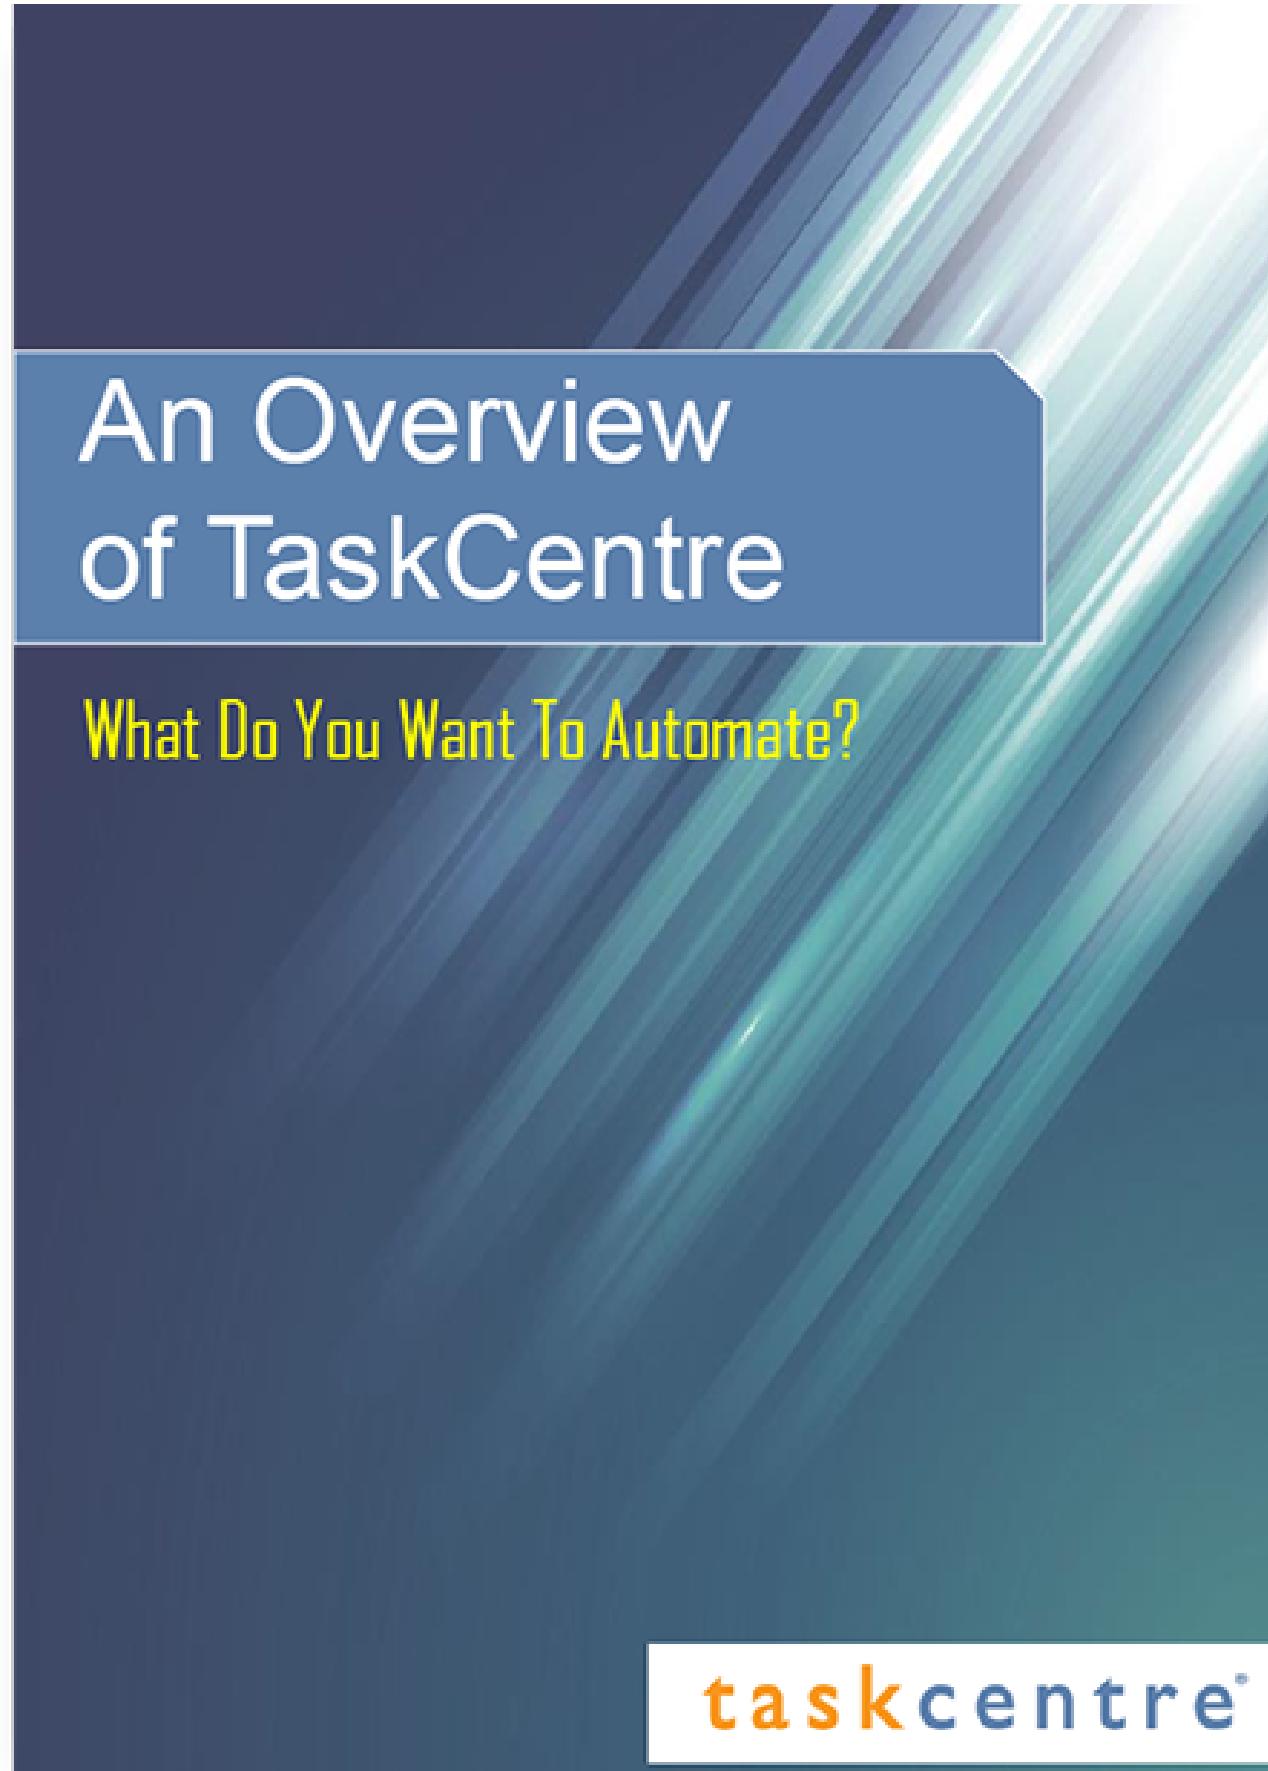

Attire Tips

Keep it Simple
If you don't own a suit jacket or blazer, that's ok! All you need is a clean dress shirt and a dark pair of slacks and you'll still appear professional.
